

Importance of Staged Rooms

- Staging the living room for buyers was found to be most important (55 percent), followed by staging the master bedroom (51 percent), and staging the kitchen (41 percent).
- Buyers' agents cited staging the guest bedroom as the least important room, with just nine percent saying that it was very important to stage.

Importance of Rooms Staged for Buyers

